Mr. Hoppe is at Jones' Hotel, badly scalded.

A gentleman arrived at the Niantic on Monday evening, per stage, who had purchased his ticket for the Jeany Lind, and just before leaving returned it to the office, and exchanged it for the stage, a circumstance probably the means of saving his life.

The faithfulness of two dogs attracted marked attention on board the Union. One of them was badly scalded all over, but haid down, new at the foct now at the head of his poor dead master, without a whine, and all attempts to call him away were useless.

The Jenny Lind was towed up to the city last evening. The boiler of the Jenny Lind was an eld one, on the Bigh pressure principle.

TOTAL LOSS OF THE SHIP—PASSENGERS SAVED.

[From the San Francisco Herald, April 16.]

We are again called upon to chronicle the loss of one of the ocean steamers plying apen this coast. The steamship S. S. Lewis, Gaptain Sparrow, belonging to the Nicaragua line, went ashore about half-past three o'clock Satarday morning, in the vicinity of Bolinas Bay, about 16 miles north of the Heads. A dense fog prevailed at the time, and the ship was kept standing off and on until the mist should rise and show the position of the coast. Sweeny and Baugh's fog bell was ringing out its notes of warning, but the ship had stood so far to the northward that the bell was not heard on board. The purser, who came overland to Saucelito, and thence by beat to the city, has not furnished us with an official report of the diesster, and we are in consequence compelled to give the stery as it reached us, without vouching for its accuracy in minor details. minor details. The ship was under easy headway, all hands literally in

In minor details.

The ship was under easy headway, all hands literally in the fog as to where they were, when she struck upon a reef that ran out some distance from the shore, about six miles north of Bolinas Bay. Every effort was made to back her and get her off, but without avail. The see was high, and, striking her violently, threw her broadside on to the reef, where she now lies keeled over.

A seeme of the greatest confusion and terrorensued, but order was partially restored, and the boats were lowered. In these the ladica and children were first piaced, and although the surf was high between the ship and the shore, a distance of 460 yards, they were afely landed, and the beats returned for the rest of the passeogers. By eight o'clock in the morning these were all landed in safely, and by dint of great exertions, the greatest part of the baggage also. The Purer then started overland for this city to obtain assistance. There were in all 385 persons on board, about 20 of whom reached the city last evening on board a schooner that was lying in the Bay at the time of the wreck. At just accounts the see had stove in her bottom, and was making a clean sweep over her, with six teen feet of water in her hold. She was fast going to pieces. When the Purser left, the water had reached the cabin, and the safe, containing the papers, &c., had not been saved.

The passeogers walked overland to the rancheria at been saved.

The passengers walked overland to the rancheria at Bolinas Bay, where tents have been erected, and every stort made to render their position as comfortable as possible until assistance reached them.

Captain Aiden, of the U.S. steamer Active, repaired to the spot where the wreck of the S. S. Lewis had occurred Captain Alden, of the U. S. steamer Active, repaired to the spot where the wreck of the S. S. Lewis had occurred to render all the assistance in her power to the unfortunate passengers who had been cast ashors and compelled to spend the night in so inhepitable a place. Scarcely a vestige of the ill-fated ship sould be seen, except pieces of her timbers floating here and there on the waters. Ehe had been dashed to pieces by the violence of the waves before daylight. The Goliah, sent by Captain Garrison, was also on the spot at an early hour. The passengers were found all well, but anxions enough to leave their uncomfortable quarters. It is not true that all the beggage was saved. We have heard of several who lost all they had on beard. Little or none of the furniture and valuables about the ship were saved, owing to the fury of the waves, which soon held undisputed sway over the week. The Active arrived at her besth about half-past one o'clock yesterday afternoon, bringing mp about two-thirds of the passengers from the beach. The Goliah would bring the rest.

Just as the steamer Goliah came to auchor near the wreek of the S. Lewis, the body of a dead man, with a blanket wound round him, and attached to a board, was seen by Captain Wright. The body passed under the vessel's ounnier, and was not again seen, as the wheels were for the Lewis, and it is probable the unfortunate man lost his life at some other time.

The schooners Victoria, and Hina, and sloep C. W. Cark had arrived at San Francisco with about one hundred of the passengers.

Miscellaneous.

ATEMETED DEFINITION OF THE STEAMSHIP WINNIED BOOTT.—A believe stempt was made to destroy the steamship Winfield Scott on Thursday night, at 9% o'clock. The mode of preparation leaves no doubt that it was the work of some determined and diabolical incondiary. Three different trains were laid in the machinist's seem, commonly honown as the blacksmith's shop. This place is the deposit of all the oil, paint, &c., naed on bound of a steamer, as well as a workshop for the machinets. A number of large hair brushes, used for clearing and scraping out the boilers and other parts of the apparatus, were laid in one train to the side of, the soun. Amother train was laid over some boards to the bulk head, and consisted of a quantity of spun oakum; a third train to the other side, also of hair brushes, was also hall. These brushes were well soaked in oil and Mismen, and when fred, burnt like lamps. At half past 5 o'clock, Mr. John Ivaland, the watchman on duty, was alarmed by the emission of a dense mass of anoke from the room, the order of which proved that some bituminous and metious matter was on fire inside. He immediately Miscellancous summoned Mr. Jeffries, who was the only man besides himself on the boat at the time, and together, they en-tered the room, when they discovered the line of hair brushes in fames. Mr. Ireland instantly ran out to draw water, while Mr. Jeffries, selling one of the brushes that was on five, occupied himself in thumping out the same from the others; and when Mr. Ireland returned, he had con it under control as that it was sailly assignational.

Encoring Appear at Shasta—The Munkershill Hung by the Provins—The Union contains an account of a shooting sillair at Shasta, and the execution of the murderer by the people James Noland, a gambler and a Mr. Murdoch, trader, were engaged in a game of monte, at the Triny House, the former dealing and the latter butting at the game. During the progress of the game, Noland pulled two cards, which Murdoch delecting, grabbed the money of the bank in one hand, while with the other he reached across the table and collared Noland. High words costed between them, in the utterance of which they scuilled, and worked themselves off from the table. Murdock in the meantime drew his revelver, coaked it, and letting the muzzle hang down, threated to shoot, Noland miss ac delivered over the money won. Having gained a position near the counter of the bar in the scuffle, Noland reached under it, or over it, and procured a pistol, which he cocked stiently and rapidly, and ursening it at the breast of Murdoch, exchanned, "You have drawn a pistol on me and threatened to shoot; now shoot and be d.—d." saying which he fired, the bullet passing into the neck of Murdoch immediately show the collar bone, and killing him instantly. Sheriff Cocart arrested Noland are placed him under guard. Nows of the affray and its consequences having travelled with lighting speed among the miners, during the day many of them crowded into Shasta, from Whiskey Greek and the surrounding regions, and demanded Noland to be given up. The sheriff resisted their demands as long as it was SHOOTING APPRAY AT SHARTA-THE MURE them crowded into Shasta, from Whistey Grees and the surrounding regions, and demanded Noland to be given up. The sherifi resisted their demands as long as it was safe to do so, when he relinquished Noland into their hands. A jury was formed, a trial held, and the prison-er found guilty. At seven o'clock in the evaning he was hung up by the neck until he was dead.

Markets.

Sas Francisco, April 16, 1853.

The large proportion of the correspondence received by the Golden Gate last night and this morning requiring replies, has necessarily occupied most of our merchants to day, to the exclusion of the transaction of other business. Some considerable trade has however been done by the jobbers. The mails of the British steamer of the 15th ult. from Valparaiso, through some inadvertence, having failed to come through the holders of Chili produce, as a general thing, are still indisposed to sell, and will await another arrival.

Until this evening the appearance of the weather indicated that the dry season had finally set in, but as we write, the rain is again pouring in torrents. Should the month terminate as the first haif has, the effects upon trace will be seriously felt in further depression of all articles of which the stocks are unwieldly.

FLOCA—We do not learn of any changes from first hands. Gallego and Hazail are jobbing at $11 a $11.25. Chill and reparted flour in sacks at $10.76. The sales are limited.

Foram—There are buyers of barley in the market today at 2c, but nolders declined selling at less than 2½c. Negotiation was also pending for a parcel of Eastern corn, but nothing was effected. Harley is sold in small lots at 2½c. a 2½c. Oats at 2½c. Eastern Canal at 2½c. a 3c, and bran at 2c.

Previenous—We are informed that a considerable proportion of the provisions per late arrivals, upon coming out ship, prove to be of inferior quality, and purchasers refuse to receive them. Hams and bacon keep best when packed rather loosely, in large packages, and though shippers at home have frequently been advised of this fac, they still persist in conding bacon in cases and hams in barrels as closely packed as possible. 40 bbls, clear pork sold at $36 a $37. 31 casks hams in muslin covers at 21c. a 21½c. 100 firkins choice butter at 35c. There has been a large sale of hams on private terms. Jobbing rates of all descriptions of provisions vary so much that we cannot give quotations which will be correct.

Prex—We note more sequiry than previously this week, and 70,600 lbs. (1,400 mgs) No. I China, ex Fanny Major, were sold to a Chimaman at 5½c.; 300 mate do. at 5½c., and 15 bbls. Carolina at 8c.

STOCKION, April 15.—Our flour market shows a disposition favoring a decline, and the stock on hand is full. We quote for American, in barrels, $13 a $13 50; Chili, in quarters, $12 a $12. Pork.—A further decline has taken place in this article, accompanied by an increased demand; we quote clear, in barrels, $42 a $44. Hans—sight decline, market not very well stocked; sales were made to day at 263/c for light canvase. Butter—We quote at 44 a 45c. Cheese has advanced to 25 a 27c. S NACHMENTO, April 15.—Though business has assumed a quiet tendency generally, there were some pretty heavy sales made for the interior. The demand in Bour has been active, and not so much firmness noticed, though no sales are reported inside of 6c. The demand for barley is principally in small parcels, at yesterday's quotations. The inquiry in oats is very trifing. China rice is offered at 6c., but strictly No. 1 commands 7c. and Caro lina a shade higher, sales light. Beans &c. Transactions in dry goo

Extract of a letter dated

BUENOS AYRES, March 18, 1558.

A commission sent by Urquiza met a commission appointed by this government, and on the 0th instant they agreed upon terms of a treaty of peace, which have been approved of by this government, and a copy sent to Gen. Urquiza, at Entre Knos, for his approval, which it is supposed will be given. But the general opinion is that the besieging force under General Lagos will not agree to it, but continue their rebellion. It is certain that they have sent up a remonstrance to the treaty to General Urquiza. The city continues its activity in preparing means of defence, and though hostilities are temporarily suspended, yet it is by no means certain that our troubles are ended. Business is at a stand. But one American vessel is in port—the brig Thorndike. She has still her inward cargo on board, and will probably go to Montevideo with it. If General Pierce sends out a new consul here, it would be well for him to bring out a few harrels of provisions and some money to pay house rent, &c., for at least one year. The days of fees and business are over. We are overstocked with imports, while produce is scarce and high. Exchange is 66s. per doublooms, which are worth $506, paper.

A trotting match for $1,000, mile heats, best three in five, in harness, between the Black Hawk colt Ethan Allen and Smith Burr's Washington filly Rose of Wash ington, came off on Tuesday last, which was won cleverly by the young stallion in three straight heats. There were large wagers laid on the result, the Eastern men, who followed the colt to this city, backing him up to their last dime, giving almost any odds required. The inhabitants of Long Island came out in force, and vigorously backed the filly, as she was well known to vigorously backed the filly, as she was well known to them, and supposed to be the fastast of her age in the world. They were, however, disappointed, and the majority of them left the track with "pockets to let." Ethan Allen proved himself in this race to be A No. 1 of trotting stailions. The time that he made in the first heat was never approached before by one of his age; and it is the universal belief of all who witnessed his race with the Rose of Washington that he can beat the fastest of our trotting stallions. Kemble Jackson, St. Lawrence, Cardinal, or any other that can be named. He can be backed against any of them at once. Rose of Washington, although defeated, exhibited extraordinary speed throughout the race. She lacked steadiness, and would shy out at the turns which threw her back considerably. At straight work she seemed to have as much speed as wish to have the youngsters matched again at two mile heats, giving the mare a few more weeks work. Washington, the sire of the filly, is now standing at Caleb Weeks hotel, is Jamaica, long Island.

One hundred to forty was current previous to the start, and during the progress of the race the odds were increased in favor of the stallion. There was an immense crowd on the course. The track was good, and the weather favorable for the sport.

First Hoat — Ethan Allen won the poie. They came up nicely for the word—H. Jones driving the colt and Albert Conklin the filly—and went off at a very lively gait. The colt took the lead round the turn, the mare pulling out too much. He was two lengths shead at the quarter pole, in forty seconds. Going down the backstretch the filly gained a triffe, although the colt was going astonishingly fast. He passed the half mile pole in 1:17—making the second quarter in thirty seven seconds, without the sightest urging on the part of his driver. On the lower turn the filly made an effort to lead. She went up to his head, but as she swung on the homestretch broke up badly, and fell off at least twenty yards. Albert Conklin in the them, and supposed to be the fastest of her age in the world. Mouk, Captain Darling, of the Legislature, and a Mr. Smith, a gentleman from Batavia, witness in this case.

Junius A. Smith was first called as a witness.

A.—I reside in Batavia, Genesee county, this State.
Q.—Have you had any connection with the Art Union; and if so, when?
A.—I have been one of its secretaries for several years.
Q.—Were you secretary in 1851, sie?
A.—Yes, sir.
Q.—What number of subscriptions did you procure during that year?

Q—What number of suscerptions and you procure during that year?

A—I should think, about seven.

Mr. Fullerton—Inst is a wheel within a questions linked together.
Mr. Shannon—Then I will change the question. Did you make any application to the officers, in regard to the drawings of 1851; and if so, why?

A.—I don't remember any particular application; I had more or less correspondence with them during that year. Q-Subsequent to 1851, have you made any applica tion?

A.—I believe not
Q.—Since the year 1851, have you received any notice, respecting the proceedings of the American Art Union for the year 1852 or 1853.

Q.—Previous to the year 1852, kad you been in the habit of receiving notice of the proceedings of the Art Union?

Union?

A.—Yes, sir.
Q.—During the years 1852 and 1853, have you received such notices as you were in the habit of receiving prior such notices as you were in the to 1852.

A.—I have not; perhaps I should explain, before that, I was in the habit of receiving circulars, but after 1851. I knew all that was to be known, and there was no need of a circular.

Q.—Mr. Smith; those subscribers you obtained in 1851.

Q.—Mr. Smith; those subscribers you to renew their sub-did they receive any notice from you to renew their sub-reciption for the year 1852 or 1853.

A.—No. sir.

Q.—Have the subscribers for the year 1851 received anything?

A.—No. sir; I believe not.

Mr. Shannon—That is all I have to ask.

Mr. Fullerton—Say if you received a copy of that circular (handing him a paper).

A.—Yes, sir.

Mr. Fullerton—I will read this.

Mr. Shannon—Let me see first.

Mr. Fullerton—You have produced it in evidence and proved it.

Mr. Fullerton—You have produced it in trioduction proved it.

Mr. Fullerton—I will make objection to the introduction of this circular, because it is irrelevant.

Mr. Fullerton—I would submit that Mr. Shanson asked the witness if he had received a circular, and the witness answered 'yes,' and particularises this circular as the one referred to.

Mr. Fullerton then read the resolution relating to the suit of the Art Union against the New York Hiskald for libel. It was as follows:

New York, June 12, 1852.

Shm—I am instructed by the commuttee of management, to inform you of the present position of the sfisher of the Art Union. Sin-I am instructed by the committee of management, to inform you of the present position of the sfaire of the Art Union.

The Recorder of this city having, in his decision for quashing the indictment for libel against the Editor of the New York Heralt, expressed the opinion that the distribution of the works of art, is a violation of the lottery laws, the District Attorney, in pursuance of those law, made application to have the works of art on our catalogue forfeited to the State. This application was decided yesterday, by the Supreme Court. Two of the judges, after much delay, and it is believed, with considerable hesitation, expressed the opinion that our distribution was liegal, and unconsiderable that the continuation of the property of the property

A—I should think they obtained them every year up to last year.

Q—Mr. Smith, state whether you received a notice from the Secretary in regard to the result of the ease in the Court of Appeals?

A—I think I did.

Mr. Shannon—That ought to be produced.

Mr. Fullerton—We will produce it.

Q—Did you obtain any notice from the Corresponding Secretary, in regard to the engravings of last year?

A—I really cannot answer positively; my impression—
Mr. Shannon—I object to impressions.

Mr. Fullerton—All we want is the benefit of the gentleman's belief.

Witness—I have seen a notice somewhere, that the engravings would be distributed; can't say whether it was in a newspaper or circunar.

Mr. Fullerton—That is all I want to ask, Mr. Smith.

Mr. Shannon—Did you say you have seen any notice in the newspaper or otherwise, for the last year?

A—No, sir; I mean for the year 1851.

Mr. Shannon—His question implied the last year, 1852

Upon resuming the investigation

Mr. John H. Williams was called upon the stand. Mr. Shannon—Where is your place A.—No 353 Broadway. Q—What is your business?

Q—What is your business?

A.—Looking glasses, pictures, paints, and paintings.

Q—What is the name of your firm?

A—Williams, Stevens & Williams.

Q—Have you or your firm, at any time during the reganization of the Art Union, sold any pictures to that organization of the Art Union, sold any pictures to that institution?

A.—We have.

Q.—State what they were, and when they were sold?

A.—I can only now state to the general fact that we have sold them. I can't from memory particularise.

Q.—Have there been many?

A.—Not many.

Q.—About how many?

A.—Speaking entirely from recollection, we have perhaps sold two dozen.

Q.—Were those pictures sold on account of your from?

A.—They were sold on account of the artists, generally, to whom they belonged. There is only one exception that I can now remember.

Q.—What is that exception?

A.—It is a painting by Flagg, that we had purchased of him, and subsequently sold to the Art Union.

Q.—Give us the title of that picture?

A.—Isabelle.

Q.—Whe purchased it?

A.—Isabelle.
Q.—Who purchased it?
A.—Either Mr. Cozzens or Mr. Geo. W. Austin—I think Mr. Cozzens.
Q.—Do you remember a picture entitled "Tangled Skien!"

Skien?"

A.—I do not.
Q.—Hou you recollect whether the artists, whose works you sold, were Americans or fereigners?

A.—They were residing here. Whether natualized or not I do not know.
Q.—Do you recollect a picture entitled the "Gypsies!"
A.—I cannot recall it; I may have sold such a picture.
Mr. Shannon.—I should like to have Mr. Williams obtain an abstract from his books, stating these particulars.

obtain an abstract from his books, stating these particulars.

Witness—I will willingly do so; I will give you what names I can from recollection.

Mr. Shannon—Very well.

Witness—We sold on account of Addy, Culverhouse, A. F. Tait, and Le Grand. I believe that is all the name I can remember; if you have any papers here, or memorande, I may refresh my memory and state more; the name of the painting will recall the whole affair; I think I sold one for Brent.

Q.—Did you ever sell any for Mr. Berford?

A.—I think we did.

Mr. Shannon—Were Mr. Addy and Mr. Culverhouse Americans?

Mr. channon—Were Mr. Addy and Mr. Culverhouse Americans?

A.—Mr. Addy is an American, but Mr. Culverhouse to an Englishman by birth, but lived on the continent in Holland since an early age; speaks German, and first called upon me with an interpreter.

Q.—Mr. Its Grand?

Q.—Mr. Tait, what countryman is he?

A.—He is an Englishman by birth, but intends coming here with his family, and making this is home.

Q.—Mr. Brent?

A.—I won't be certain, but I think he was born here.

Q.—Mr. Bertord?

A.—I think he is an Englishman by birth, but has lived.

Q.—Mr. Berford?

A.—I think he is an Englishman by birth, but has lived here twenty years or more.
Q.—Do you know where Mr. Culverhouse at this time resides?

A.—I do not; he has lived at various places since I hear bire.

A.—I do not; he has need a williams, all of these paintings were painted here. You have no other means of knowing this to be the case?

A.—They had all the appearance of being freshly

A.—They had all the appearance of being freshly painted.

Q.—Are you able to give the subjects of the paintings sold by you?

A.—Most of them: were landscapes; I can't particularize them; Addy, I know, paints nothing else; Culterhouse is mostly moonlight paintings and convivid scenes, as for instance, an ale house door.

Q.—This Flagg, is he an American?

A.—He is an American; there are two or three brothers, who are painters.

Q.—What price was paid by you for that picture of Flagg's?

A.—I have no objection to answering the question, but it is intruding upon private business; nevertheless, I had rather answer it than be published as declining.

Mr. Shannon—Then I will withdraw the question.

Witness—Upon reflection, for fear some wrong construction may be put upon a refusal, I had rather answer; I paid one hundred dollars is cash, and furnished has with commissions to paint portraits with fifty dollars more; I then framed it with a frame worth twenty five deliars, and sold it, I think, for one hundred and soventy five deliars, just what it cost me.

Mr. Fhannen—That is all.
Mr. Fullerton—Cross examination—State whether, in your judgment, the Art Union exercised discretion, and judgment and taste, in the purchase of their pictures of you?

Mr. Fhannon—I object to this.
The Chair—I overrule the objection.
Wirers—I think the Art Union did.
Mr. Fullerton—I think you have named they were all resident artists, alluded to in your testimony.

A.—Yes, they were.
Mr. Fullerton—Lock at the paper now shown you, and see if it is the voucher for the purchase of the picture you have just alluded to.

A.—I think it is.
The Chair—Is that all?
Mr. Fullerton—It is.
Mr. Fullerton—It is.

The Chair—Is that all?

Mr. Fullerton—It is.

Witness—I wish here to explain that the reason I hesitated answering the question of the counsel, at first, was theught it was going too much into my private affairs. I hope the intelligence of the reporters present will be their one for making clear this statement, that the public may have no cause to think that there was anything which I wanted to keep secret in regard to this matter.

The witness then subscribed and swore to his test meny.

The witness then subscribed and swore to his testimeny.

Mr. Shannon—I am unable at present to produce any other witness.

The Chair—Do you rest your case.

Mr. Shannon—No sir. I have no witness to call at present. I hope I shall be able to conclude to morrow.

Mr. Fullerton—As the time between this and the time for the committee to report is very short, we are reing to be much embarrassed by this delay. Cannot we have an evening session, or an afternoon session.

The Chair—Ferfeetly satisfactory to the committee. I cannot see what impropriety there is in now allowing the Art Union to proceed.

Mr. Chapp—The side for the Art Union have instinated that they would admit a great deal that the petitioners wish to prove. If so, that will save much time.

The Chair—How many more witnesses de you propose to examine, Mr. Shannon?

Mr. Shannon—There will be about twelve witnesses.

The Chair—Cannot you go on with the books you produced last evening?

Mr. Shannon—I am willing to de so.

The Chair—Cannot you go on with the books you produced last evening?

Mr. Shannon—I am willing to do so.

Mr. Fullerton—Cannot we have another session to day.

Mr. Shannon—I have a headache.

Mr. Clapp—What is the use of meeting, unless we are sure that the wimesses will be here.

The Chair—Well. I will give notice that the petitioners must go on with their case, or close it, this afternoon.

The committee then adjourned till 6 P. M.

Court of Common Pleas—Part Second:

Refore Hon. Judge Woodruff.

A VOYAGE TO CALIFORNIA.

May 12.—Thus Hutchuson, Jr. vs. Cornelius Vanderbill.—This was an action for a breach of contract. The plaintiff, by biscounsel, Mr. A. H. Dana, complains that on the 20th March, 1852, the defendant undertook, for the consideration of $180, to convey the plaintiff from the city of New York to San Francisco, in California, by or before the 20th of April following. by the continous line of transportation from Greytown, oo the Gulf of Mexico, in the State of Nicarsgua, and San Juan del Sud, on the Pacific ocean, upon the steamship Daniel Webster, and by the steamship North America, advertued to sall from San Juan del Sud to San Francisco, and by intermediate transportation from Greytown to San Suan del Sud, partly by water and partly by land. The defendant, however, did not convey the steafiship North America, or by any other mode of conveyance, but the plaintiff was Getained upwards of four weeks at San Juan del Sud, and was then obliged to return to New York, at great expense. The plaintiff alleges that his health was impaired by his éctention in a sickly place, and he lays his damages for the inconvenience, disappolutment, and delay, at $3,000.

For the defence it is contended by Messrs. Rapallo, Noyes, and H. T. Clark, that the defendant had a rule, which was well known to the plaintiff agent, that tickets were not transferable, and that they were issued in the name of the party intending to take the passage; that this licket was issued to Thomas Grove, and that the plaintiff was deviced it by transfer from Grove, or that Grove is a fettitious name under which the plaintiff passed; also, that the steamship North America, to which the plaintiff was ticked, was lost by the setfle of sea, on the 27th of Pebruary, 1852, subsequent to the issuing of the defence atated; and also on the ground that the plaintiff was bound to stay a reasonable time Pierrepent.—This was an action brought by the plaintiff a resident of North Carolina, against the defendants. as lessees of the Brooklyn ferry boats, for injury done him on the 9th of December, 1862, when on board the ferry boat Gowanus, when a cellision took place between that steamer and the Union, which was coming into the adjoining slip, at the New York side, by which part of his ear was torn off and his head severely bruised, and the brain and memory of the plaintiff much injured and imjaired. The injury was inflicted by the breaking of a chain, one of the rings of which struck Gen. Wade in the ear. Damages are laid at $25,000. For the defence it is contended that the steamboat was guided by a good and skilful plot, and that the lurching of the vessel against the pier was caused by the ebbing of the tide, and that there was no negligence on the part of the servants of the company. The jury readered a verdict for the plaintiff of $6,000.

ROBBING MAIL LETTERS.

Early yesterday, a young man, named Theodore A.

Rossie, one of the clerks in the Fost Office, was detected Resis, one of the clerks in the Post Office, was detected in breaking open foreign mail letters, and extracting feloniously money and other valuables therefrom. On being discovered he endeavored to make his escape, and ran from the Post Office, pursued by severaled the clerks, who called out "Stop thief." Notwithstanding, however, the general alarm, the accused managed to run as far as Burling alip, when he was stopped by the firm grasp of Mr. T. Keller, merchant, of No. 2 Cliff street. The prisoner was then escorted by Mr. Keller back to the Post Office, and thence to the Marshal's office, where, in default of $5,000 ball, he was committed to prison to swalt a further hearing, which is ordered for 1s o'clock Friday morning.

It appears that the accused has been in the Post Office for the last two years, and during the last year many complaints have been made respecting the purloining of money from foreign letters. It was supposed that the fault was on the other side the of Aflantic; it now appears to have been here. The accused was detected by James Holbrook, a special agent of the police department.

Wilcox's steelyard factory at Meridan, Conn., was burnt on the 7th inst. Building and materials destroyed. Loss about $6,000. The fire was caused by a little boy who lit a bit of paper and threw it into a kettle of varnish.

MONEY MARKET.

THURSDAY, May 12-6 P. M. The stock market continues depressed, so far as prices are concerned. There is a good deal of activity among the most prominent fancies, but it appears impossible to their market value. Nicaragua improved a fraction to-day, and it will, without doubt, gradually work up again to the old level. Morris Canal was a little more buoyant, with larger transactions than usual. Eric Railroad is slowly settling down to the point it started from several weeks since. At the first board to-day Morris Canal advanced 14 per cent; Sixth Avenue Railroad, 1; New Haven Railroad, 1; Nicaragua Transit, M. Phomix declined 14; Harlem, 14; Eric Railroad, 14; Re ng Railroad, M; Parker Vein, M. There was a small sale of Obio River Land and Marble Company stock tocay, at the first board, at 20% per cent. This company is organized under the general manufacturing law of Connecticut, with a capital of $200,000, divided in 8,000 shares of $25 cach. The property of the company conists of its marble quarry and 40,000 acres of land, lying on the Ohio river, in Lewis county, Kentucky. It extends from a point opposite the city of Portsmonth, Ohio, the ontiet of the great Ohio Canal, following the course of the river in a westerly direction The land is possessed of agricultural advantages and mineral wealth, the ultimate value of which it is difficult to estimate, but it is being actively developed as well through iron furnaces, marble quarries, and mineral paint, as for the cultivation of the vine. The valuable deposit of a meterial suitable for the manufacture of coarse paint is among the least of the mineral resources of this company. Some gentlemen have, we understand, proposed to form a paint company, and purshase this deposit for $25,000 cash and $75,000 bonds, and the proposition will probably be accepted. If this arrangement is carried out, the cash payment will be equal to a dividend of $3 per share on the stock of the Marble Company.
